

Worship Service Theme: Grace
Fifth Sunday of Lent

Helpful Elements:
Purple table covering (Lenten Season)

Welcome: Welcome! Thank you for coming to our service today. My name is _____ and I'll be leading our worship time. Today is the fifth Sunday of Lent, the 40 days leading up to Easter, a time of reflecting on our humanity and God's glory. We use the color purple during Lent as the color of repentance and forgiveness. Today we'll be looking at the idea of grace.

Please pray with me as we open our time together.

Opening Prayer: Great and loving God, we ask that your Holy Spirit bless our time together and to refresh us with your presence. In the midst of a world full of trouble and strife, we thank you for watching over us, guiding us, and as we confess our sins, for forgiving us. Enable us to enter your presence today joyfully and reverently, and let us depart with the assurance that our sins are forgiven. Fill us, O God, with the peace which passes understanding. Amen.

Opening Hymn: Doxology

Statement of Faith: Let us affirm our statement of faith by reciting Psalm 23 together:

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

² He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.

³ He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

⁴ Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

⁵Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

⁶Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

Amazing Grace

First Reading: Psalm 86

¹Incline your ear, O Lord, and answer me,
for I am poor and needy.

²Preserve my life, for I am godly;
save your servant, who trusts in you—you are my God.

³Be gracious to me, O Lord,
for to you do I cry all the day.

⁴Gladden the soul of your servant,
for to you, O Lord, do I lift up my soul.

⁵For you, O Lord, are good and forgiving,
abounding in steadfast love to all who call upon you.

⁶Give ear, O Lord, to my prayer;
listen to my plea for grace.

⁷In the day of my trouble I call upon you,
for you answer me.

This is the word of the Lord; thanks be to God.

Jesus Loves Me

Second reading: Ephesians 2: 4-9. The apostle Paul starts this section by talking about how we have all fallen short and done bad things. Then come the great words: "But God..."

⁴But God, being rich in mercy, because of the great love with which God loved us, ⁵even when we were dead in our trespasses, made us alive together with Christ—by grace you have been saved— ⁶and raised us up with Christ and seated us with him in the heavenly places in Christ Jesus, ⁷so that in the coming ages God might show the immeasurable riches of his grace in kindness toward us in Christ Jesus. ⁸For by grace you have been saved through faith. And this is not your own doing; it is the gift of God, ⁹not a result of works, so that no one may boast.

This is the word of the Lord; thanks be to God.

Interactive Homily: Let's think a bit more about grace.

- In the Bible, people often ask God for grace, and God is described as gracious, or full of grace. How would you describe grace? When someone is gracious to you, how do they act?
 - Kindness; overlooking faults; compassionate; merciful; helping you when you can't help yourself
- There are certain things we know for sure, right? What things do we know for sure? What do we know is true? (generate ideas of true, obvious things; for example:)
 - We are human beings, men and women.
 - We are here together today at church.
 - We are breathing. We have hair and eyes and hands and feet.
- What do we know to be true about human history? What is one constant in all of human history, over and over again? (Have people always been getting along just fine, without any conflict, peacefully?)
 - Sadly, war and fighting are a constant. People hurt each other in small ways and big ways, every day.
- Now let's be honest with ourselves: Do we know for sure that at one point or another, every one of us has done something we shouldn't have done? Something wrong or hurtful?
 - As the apostle Paul says in Romans 3, "all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God...."

- This is where GRACE comes in. According to Christian faith and teaching, grace is the mercy that God gives us to forgive us, even though we don't deserve it. God's grace is like if you were in a court of law, and you plead guilty—"yes, I did it, and I'm sorry"—and the judge says, "Because I love you, I'll pay your fine for you."
 - As the apostle Paul continues in Romans 3, "all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God—and are justified [that is, declared free] by God's grace as a gift, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus."
- What is a gift? How does a gift become yours?
 - Something freely given
 - A gift has to be accepted and used. If you leave a gift wrapped up, on the table, is it completely yours?
- When someone gives you a gift, do you ever ask how much it cost? No ... that's not considered polite 😊 But in this case, the Bible tells us exactly how much this gift of God's grace cost: It cost God his only Son.
 - The heart of Christian faith is that God saved us by sending his Son Jesus to die for us, so that we could have eternal life—as a free gift, accepted by faith. Grace is not something we earn by being "good."

During this season of Lent, a time of reflection and repentance, let us pray together in gratitude for God's amazing grace.

(Silent Prayer) ... Lord, hear our prayers. Now let us pray the Lord's prayer together:

Lord's Prayer: Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, the power, and the glory forever, Amen.

Standing on the Promises

Third Reading: Going to Disney World, by pastor and professor Timothy Paul Jones¹ (edited)

I never dreamed that taking a child to Disney World could be so difficult — or that it could teach me so much about God’s outrageous grace.

Our middle daughter had been previously adopted by another family. For one reason or another, whenever our daughter’s previous family vacationed at Disney World, they took their biological children with them, but they left her with a family friend. Usually — at least our daughter’s mind — this happened because she did something wrong.

By the time we adopted our daughter, she had seen many pictures of Disney World [but she had never been there]. Once I found out about this history, I made plans to take her to Disney World. ...

But the prospect of visiting Disney World somehow produced a stream of downright devilish behavior in our newest daughter. In the month leading up to our trip, she stole food, she lied, she whispered insults to hurt her older sister as deeply as possible — and, the trip got closer, her wrongdoing got worse.

A couple of days before the trip, I pulled our daughter into my lap to talk. “I know what you’re going to do,” she stated flatly. “You’re not going to take me to Disney World, are you?” The thought hadn’t actually crossed my mind, but her [bad behavior] suddenly started to make sense. She knew she couldn’t earn her way to Disney World — she had tried and failed that test several times before with her previous family — so she was living in that expectation.

I’m embarrassed to admit that the easiest response would have been, “If you don’t start behaving better, you’re right, we won’t take you” — but, by God’s grace, I didn’t say that. Instead, I asked her, “Is this trip something we’re doing as a family?”

She nodded, her brown eyes wide and tear-rimmed.

“Are you part of this family?” I asked.

She nodded again.

“Then you’re going with us,” I said. “Sure, there may be some consequences to help you remember what’s right and what’s wrong — but you’re part of our family, and we’re not leaving you behind.”

After the first day of our family time at Disney World, our daughter was a very different child. When bedtime rolled around, I prayed with her, held her, and asked, “So how was your first day at Disney World?”

She closed her eyes and snuggled down with her stuffed unicorn. After a few moments, she opened her eyes slightly. “Daddy,” she said, “I finally got to go to Disney World. But it wasn’t because I was good; it’s because I’m yours.”

It wasn’t because I was good; it’s because I’m yours. That’s the message of grace. God’s grace isn’t a favor you can achieve by being good; it’s the gift you receive by being God’s.

Fourth Reading: Quotes on Grace

Grace means God’s love in action towards people who [deserved] the opposite of love. Grace means God moving heaven and earth to save sinners who could not lift a finger to save themselves. —theologian J.I. Packer

To a Christian, Grace [is], at its simplest, a gift, one that is impossible to earn or deserve but [that is] is freely and graciously given. —Methodist writer John Birch

I am a most noteworthy sinner, but I have cried out to the Lord for grace and mercy, and they have covered me completely. I have found the sweetest consolation since I made it my whole purpose to enjoy His marvelous Presence. — Christopher Columbus

Man is born broken. He lives by mending. The grace of God is glue. –playwriter Eugene O’Neill

Amazing Grace, written by former slave trader John Newton, 1779

Amazing grace! How sweet the sound
That saved a wretch like me
I once was lost, but now I’m found
I was blind, but now I see

It was grace that taught my heart to fear,
And grace my fears relieved
How precious did that grace appear
The hour I first believed.

Through many dangers, toils and snares
I have already come.
It is grace that has brought me safe thus far
And grace will lead me home.
